Chapter Five of the Hayden Fry Story as football coach at the University of Iowa will be written this fall and, from all indications, it should be another saga with a happy ending.

Fry already has given enthusiastic Hawkeye fans more happiness than they had any right to expect in his first four seasons. His teams have finished in the Big Ten's first division for four consecutive years, ended a string of 20 non-winning seasons, posted back-toback 8-4 records and been to two consecutive bowl games.

There's talk of a third and, unlike some coaches, Fry doesn't try to quiet such talk. Confidence is something he and his staff have worked mighty hard to instill in his four years at Iowa. "I'd much rather they be talking this way (about a possible bowl game) than the way it used to be," Fry told an I-Club gathering in Davenport. "It doesn't put any added pressure on the coaches or the players. We still have to dance every dance."

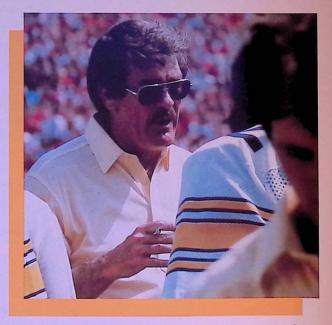

It appears that Fry will have plenty to dance with this fall. "This is the best feeling I've had about the total team since I've been at Iowa," he said. "We should be in the Top 20 going into the season. In fact, I think we were that good at the end of last year."

One thing seems certain. The Hawkeyes won't sneak up on anyone as they did in the last two years. In 1981 they were picked for eighth place in the Big Ten and wound up going to the Rose Bowl as the co-champion after a season of upsets. Relegated to the second division again last season after losing 15 starters from the Rose Bowl team, the Hawkeyes bounced back from two season-opening losses to win eight of their last 10 and wind up in the Peach Bowl.

This time, Iowa carries a three-game winning streak into the season and is ranked with Ohio State and Michigan as one of the top three teams in the conference.

"I'm real excited about 1983," says Fry. "We have a good nucleus returning, and we have enjoyed a fine recruiting year. But there are a lot of variables involved. We'll need our share of luck."

The chief losses from last year are offensive linemen Brett Miller and Loren Gerleman, punter Reggie Roby and defenders James Erb, Dave Browne, Mark Bortz, Clay Uhlenhake and Bobby Stoops. But 15 starters and 42 lettermen return from the squad that bounced Tennessee in the Peach Bowl to post an 8-4 record.

On offense, the first two units return almost intact. At center, start with Joel Hilgenberg, three-year letterman and the last of a long line of Hilgenbergs in the foreseeable future at Iowa. Bill Bailey and John Carroll are also ready to lend depth at that spot.

The starting offensive guards figure to be seniors Jon Roehlk and Tim Hanna. Among those figured as guard candidates are Tom Humphrey, Kirk Banks, Bill Glass and Don Kellogg.

Iowa could have a pair of the best offensive tackles in the conference. Certainly they're two of the biggest. John Alt, who spent his first two years as a Hawkeye at tight end, may be ready to blossom into stardom at something like 6-7 and 275. His running mate, Joe Levelis, is 6-5 and 280. He played very well at offensive tackle in the spring after starting at guard the last two seasons.

Depth at the offensive tackle positions is going to have to be provided totally by newcomers, most of them redshirted from a year ago. That list includes Dave Croston, Kevin Angel, Chris Gambol, Mike Haight, JC transfer Jerry Malone and possibly Walt Housman.

Tight end is one of Iowa's best fortified spots. Three-year letterman Mike Hufford, a fine receiver and blocker, returns, but he may be pressed by Jonathan Hayes, a versatile junior who has played both tight end and linebacker on the same afternoon. Eddie Polite, a good-looking redshirt freshman, backs them up, as do Mike Bennett and Mark Spranger.

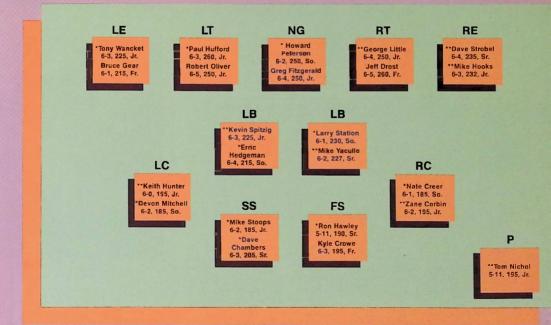

At split end, Dave Moritz figures to be about as good as anybody in the league. Moritz has neither great size, nor great speed. All he does is get open and catch the ball. He caught passes for 168 yards against Tennessee in the Peach Bowl to boost his yardage to 605 for the year and to an even 1,000 for his career. Bill Happel and Jeff Beelman are among those fighting to see more playing time behind Moritz.

The wingback position has some question marks, but seems well fortified. For one thing, sophomore Ronnie Harmon, who made two touchdown catches in the Peach Bowl, spent the spring as a running back candidate and indicates he wants to stay at that position. For another, Lon Olejniczak spent the spring with the baseball team, but wants in the very worst way to make a comeback at wingback, where he was the starter early in the 1981 season before suffering a broken leg.

In the spring, starting status at wingback went to J.C. Love Jordan, with Bill Broghamer in close pursuit and Gregg Hammann and Scott Helverson behind them.

Unlike last year, when Iowa started with no experienced quarterback, it now looks like veteran Chuck Long all the way. But Long's top backup, Tom Grogan, looked very good in the spring, and so did Nos. 3 and 4, Cornelius Robertson and Mark Vlasic. Long, a big, rugged junior who can both run and throw, made some revisions in the Iowa record book last fall when he completed 65.2 percent of his passes, including his first 11 against Tennessee in the Peach Bowl. For the season, Long completed 148 passes for 1,678 yards.

The Hawkeyes appear to have a great one-two punch at running back in the persons of Eddie Phillips and Owen Gill. Phillips, who ran for 198 yards against Minnesota and 158 against Illinois, might be the best running back in the league. On the other hand, he might not be the best running back at Iowa, pending a challenge from Gill, who had a fractionally better rushing average than Phillips last season and shared the duties with him in the spring. Paul McCarty has looked good in his few opportunities and, as noted, Harmon wants to run with the football, not catch it and then run.

The fullback spot also looks strong, with versatile Norm Granger, the great runner-blocker, No. 1; Glenn Buggs No. 2 and Fred Bush No. 3.

While the offense often wins headlines, it is the defense which most often wins games. For two years in a row now Assistant Head Coach Bill Brashier has produced a unit that has led the Big Ten in total defense. He could do it again, considering he has more to work with than he started with a year ago.

Start at defensive end where Tony Wancket and Dave Strobel could be as good as anybody in the league. Mike Hooks, Bruce Gear and George Millett offer mighty good bench strength and protection against injury.

The interior of the defensive line is going to have to prove itself. After spring practice, the coaches ranked Paul Hufford and George Little No. I at tackles, backed up by JC transfer Robert Oliver and redshirt freshman Jeff Drost. Hap Peterson, recovering from knee surgery, figures to be the No. I nose guard, backed up by another JC transfer, Greg Fitzgerald.

Linebacker is another spot that seems solid, and then some, if injuries heal properly. Probable starters Kevin Spitzig and Larry Station, potential all-Americans, missed spring practice, but figure to start knocking people down in September. Behind them, Erric Hedgeman, Mike Yacullo and George Davis are capable and eager for action.

The defensive backfield looks strong and deep. Cornerbacks Keith Hunter and Nate Creer both started a number of games last season, as did their backups, Devon Mitchell and Zane Corbin. Ron Hawley no doubt holds the edge over redshirt freshman Kyle Crowe at free safety, but Mike Stoops may have to hustle to hold off the challenge of Dave Chambers at strong safety. Ken Sims, a redshirt freshman, sparkled at cornerback in the spring game.

That's the way the top personnel looks at Iowa, heading into the fall. Freshmen haven't played much for the Hawkeyes in Fry's previous four seasons, and it would seem the better you get the less likely freshmen are to break in (14 were redshirted a year ago). Still, don't bet against some incoming freshmen lending a hand before the season is over. This was a good recruiting year for Iowa.

Although things look good on paper, there are some question-mark areas. There's almost no experienced depth in the offensive line, the middle of the defensive line must prove itself and the kicking game must be overhauled.

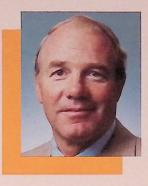

Roby took his strong right leg to the Miami Dolphins, leaving the punting chores in need of a foot. Tom Nichol, the "pooch punter" and field goal kicker, may have first call at punting. Roehlk, with his work in the spring, seems to have very satisfactorily taken over for Roby as the kickoff man.

While Iowa figures to have a very good football team — probably the best yet in Fry's time here — the schedule again gives pause. The Hawkeyes open with Iowa State, a team they have lost to three straight times, then take on defending national champion Penn State and Big Ten toughies Ohio State and Illinois.

With an expanded stadium and with road games at such places as Michigan, Penn State and Wisconsin, the Hawkeyes are likely to set an all-time attendance record for the regular season. If there's a bowl game, that's just frosting on the cake.

Al Grady has written hundreds of stories and columns about Iowa football during his 30 years with the Iowa City Press Citizen.

Bump Elliott has built a model intercollegiate sports program in his 13 years as Iowa's athletic director. Victorics and revenue are the bottom line in this business and the Hawkeyes, under Bump's guidance, excel in both.

Iowa's football team has appeared in bowl games the past two seasons, its basketball team has played in five straight NCAA tournaments (a Big Ten record), its wrestling team has won six straight national championships (and eight of the last nine) and 10 consecutive Big Ten titles, and its swimming team has captured two of the last three Big Ten crowns.

During Elliott's tenure, Iowa has won 18 Big Ten championships in six sports. Last year the Hawkeyes finished second in all-sports competition within the Big Ten. Gate receipts are vitally important to Bump's program that receives no state appropriated money, and the Hawkeyes play to capacity crowds in both football and basketball. Indeed, Iowa is one of perhaps five major universities that has season ticket sellouts in both sports. Kinnick Stadium was enlarged to 65,000 just this year. Last winter Iowa opened a new sports arena that seats 15,500. In addition, Iowa wrestling has a strong season ticket sale and attendance in that sport ranks No. I in the nation.

At a time when inflation has made cutting non-revenue sports commonplace, Iowa's total program under Bump's administration has flourished and is one of the most financially successful operations in college sports. Ticket receipts, radio and TV money, post-season games in both football and basketball and a strong fund raising program have all played a major role in keeping Hawkeye sports fiscally sound.

Elliott, who became Iowa's athletic director June 11, 1970, oversees a staff of some 60 persons, 11 intercollegiate sports and a large physical plant. The only man who has appeared in the Rose Bowl in five different capacities (player, assistant coach, head coach, assistant AD and AD), he was a member of the Iowa coaching staff for five years and helped develop the Hawkeyes into the 1956 Big Ten champion and Rose Bowl winner.

Bump was tapped by his alma mater,

Michigan, to join the staff there in 1957. He became head coach two years later, and his term as Wolverine boss was highlighted by conference and Rose Bowl wins in 1964. Elliott's 10-year record was 51-42-2 when he quit coaching after the 1968 season to accept administrative duties. After 18 months as Michigan's associate AD, he became athletic director at Iowa.

Elliott played three sports at Michigan in 1946-47-48. A brilliant halfback, he topped the Big Ten in scoring in 1947 with 54 points and spurred the Wolverines to Big Ten and Rose Bowl championships. He led his team in pass receiving and averaged more than five yards a carry. He earned all-America honors, as did his brother Pete, a Michigan quarterback. Bump also played parts of two seasons (1943-44) as a Marine traince at Purdue. He was selected the Big Ten's MVP in 1947. Elliott's first coaching job was as an assistant at Oregon State (1948-51).

A member of three NCAA committees (steering, post-season and nominating), Bump is a native of Bloomington, III. His father, Dr. J. Norman Elliott, was a physician there and also coached at Illinois Wesleyan and Northwestern. He was discharged from the Marines in 1946 and received his degree at Michigan in 1948. He and wife Barbara have three children: Bill, Bob and Betsy. Bob played at Iowa and is now on the football coaching staff at North Carolina State.

To be more appropriate, Iowa's quarterback should change his name from Chuck Long to Chuck Accurately.

Hawkeye fans asked what the 6-4, 185-pound junior could do for an encore after he broke the school record for pass-completion percentage with .642 in the 11 regular-scason games last year.

All he did was complete 19 of 26 including his first 11 — for .731 when Iowa tripped Tennessee 28-22 in Atlanta's Peach Bowl last Dec. 31.

So now Long heads into the 1983 season with a combined mark of .652, and even Coach Hayden Fry admits he is impressed. Don't forget, Fry coached some fancy chuckers before at Southern Methodist and North Texas State.

"But I've never coached a quarterback like Chuck." drawled Fry. "Chuck Hixon (SMU, 1968) probably came the closest. What an arm Hixon had! He set an NCAA record by throwing 69 passes against Ohio State in one game, and then I put in the second-string quarterback who threw seven more."

Also at SMU. Fry coached Mike Livingston, later a star with the Kansas City Chiefs, and Gary Hammond. He directed Kenny Washington, kid brother of Joe Washington, and Jordan Case at North Texas State.

"It looks as if we've got at least one position cinched for this fall," Fry continued. "Chuck Long is going to continue to improve, and we thought he did a fantastic job in 1982.

"Don't forget, we've also got Tom Grogan (fifth-year senior) at quarterback. Grogan probably will help Iowa win some games, but we felt at the start of last season that Long was our quarterback of the future.

"In coaching, you don't run across many players who stand out in as many ways as Long does. When you do, it's not that they're so big, or so good looking or so quick. You just know from being around Long — whether it's on the football field or in a bull session that here's a guy who can't miss.

"He's a winner, and I told the news media before he ever started a game for lowa that he had the mark of greatness about him. No, I didn't do it just to help pump up Long's confidence. I really felt he could get the job done, even though he'd thrown only one pass for us the previous season — and completed it, incidentally.

CHUCK

"There are no flaws in this young man's armor. He took some tremendous licks from the defenses last season, but he survived them all. Chuck is so team- and goal-oriented. yet he stays so low key.

"He fascinates everybody around him. He never gets excited, never gets his head down after a loss or a disappointment, never gets big-headed."

The Iowa coach didn't have to add anything about Long's ability to hit his targets. The old school record for top completion percentage was .587 in 1958 by Randy Duncan, who made most of the All-America teams and was a firstround NFL draft choice.

Long completed 148 of 227 passes (.652) for 1,678 yards in the 12 games. He had 11 intercepted, but another 11 went for touchdowns. The longest was a screen pass that fullback "Stormin" Norman" Granger turned into a 63yard touchdown gallop against Indiana.

Funny thing is that, despite Fry's confidence in Long, he was benched for one of Iowa's 1982 games. Long had started the opener, but the Hawkeyes were all but run out of Big Red Country in a 42-7 loss to Nebraska.

The next week Fry started Grogan against Iowa State. Result: another loss, 19-7, and the Hawkeye faithful began to wonder if it wouldn't be a long, long season with no more offense than that.

Long was reinstated at the starting spot the next week, and the 17-14 upset of Arizona at Tucson became a turning point. The next week Long completed 9 of 11 against Northwestern, a FOR-MER Big Ten softie, and that included his last nine.

"I really didn't know at the beginning that Coach Fry had been a quarterback when he played (at Baylor)," Long said. "He never really said anything about it.

"But he has a way with quarterbacks, because he sure knows what he's doing. Pretty soon I began to wonder, was he a quarterback or not? Then, when he said he had been a quarterback, it made sense.

"I had my confidence built up in practice last spring (1982). I felt then I was capable of playing in the Big Ten."

Although Long isn't especially fast, he emerged with a net rushing total of 121 yards last season. In mid-season, Fry was asked why the Hawkeyes didn't ever try quarterback sneaks on short yardage for touchdowns or first downs.

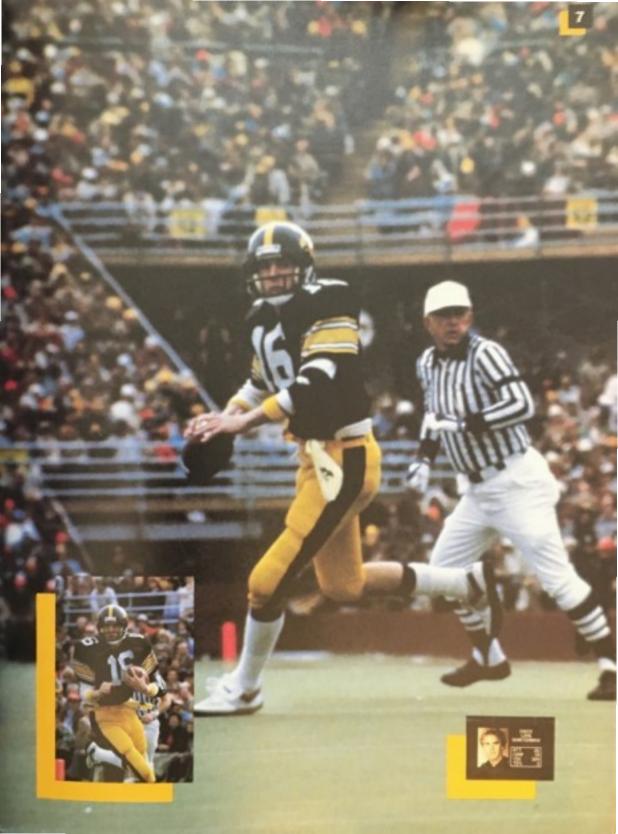

The wily Hawkeye coach astonished listeners by saying he'd never had a quarterback sneak in his offense. But, he added. "we put one in last night." Sure enough, in the next game, Long sneaked two yards twice for touchdowns as lowa recaptured the Floyd of Rosedale Trophy from Minnesota, 21-16, for the first time since 1977.

Journalists covering the Hawkeyes have sought a nickname for Long, but so far nobody has suggested "the Wheaton Iceman." Maybe they would consider that almost sacrilegious — if not repetitious — since Illinois immortal Red Grange carried that handle back in the days when he hauled ice in Wheaton, Ill., during the summer.

"Yes, I've met Mr. Grange," said Long, who was an option-style quarterback for Wheaton North because his prep coach didn't believe in passing much. "He played for another school in Wheaton, but he came back to his hometown several years ago, and it was a great thrill to meet him."

Gus Schrader has been staffing Hawkeye games since shortly after World War II for the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

John Alt says he is comfortable now in the offensive line and the broken bone in his wrist is coming along just fine. Now if he could only get kicking out of his system, things would be just perfect.

"I would like to give kicking a try," Alt said. "I fooled around with it in the spring and plan on working on it in the summer."

Alt, a senior from Columbia Heights, Minn., didn't have much else to do during the Hawkeyes' spring football drills. A broken bone in his wrist was still not healed so the 6-7, 275-pound offensive tackle was held out of spring drills.

Kicking the football was just one of the many athletic taients of Alt when he was a prep. He was all-everything in Minnesota in both football (tight end) and basketball.

Last year Alt was moved from catching passes to blocking for the passer, and he says he has made the adjustment.

"I'm getting it down the more I play there," he says. "It is a fun position. I played in the line until I was in eighth grade and in high school the tight end was in a down position so I was used to blocking." But a move that obviously is in the best interests of the Iowa team may also be in Alt's best interests down the road. A college football lineman with his dimensions is like a magnet to professional scouts.

"Sure it will probably help me down the line," he said, referring to a possible pro career. "If the opportunity comes along, I would sure give it a try."

The hand injury came against Purdue in the ninth game of the season and Alt saw just limited action in the final two games and did not play at all in the Peach Bowl against Tennessee.

"Missing spring practice shouldn't impede his progress much." says offensive line coach Kirk Ferentz. "He has been through it and knows what is going on. He has adjusted completely to his new position. He is a good athlete, a great competitor — everything you look for in a football player. He has a lot of pride."

Being a senior, Alt is approaching his final season a little differently than he has the previous three.

"I'm more intense than I have been before," he says. "Not that I didn't give 100 percent before, but this is my last time around. Before, during the summer, I would relax and not think much about football. But now I'm thinking football all the time.

"Before the season we sit down and set goals for the team. But everybody wants the same thing..." he said, without mentioning a second trip to the Rose Bowl in three seasons.

Alt is one of 20 seniors on this, Coach Hayden Fry's fifth team at Iowa, and Alt expects that to be a strong point.

"Good leadership should be one of our assets," he said. "We have a lot of seniors who have been around and know what is happening.

"I've always looked up to people who have been around the longest and I guess from that standpoint I feel a certain responsibility." Alt is a quiet person but one thing he admits without hesitation.

"I'd like to beat Minnesota again," he said. "That will be my last game at Kinnick Stadium and that would top off my career real well.

"And I'd like to beat lowa State because we haven't done that since I've been here. What I'd really like to do is win every game."

Alt was the object of a heavy recruiting battle between Minnesota and lowa, among others, and he still hears about it when he is home.

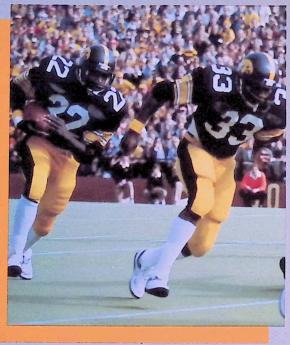

Assistant Coach Dan McCarney recruited Alt, but it was the Iowa people and Fry who got the Minnesotan to become a Hawkeye.

"The fans and coaches here were very impressive, and I had the feeling Coach Fry was going to get things going the right direction," says Alt.

OWEN GILL EDDIE PHILLIPS (SE

By Gary Richards

Iowa tailbacks Eddie Phillips and Owen Gill are proof that gems can be uncovered in different ways.

Phillips came out of Chicago's Simeon High School in 1981 with dozens of recruiters dogging his every step. The Hawkeyes lured him to Iowa City only after an intense battle with Minnesota.

Gill was graduated from Tilden High School in Brooklyn a year later. Even though he rushed for 314 yards in one game, few recruiters came calling.

"Owen played in a league that didn't get nearly the exposure that Eddie's league did." said Carl Jackson, the Iowa assistant coach in charge of running backs. "Actually, Owen played in a real weak league. A lot of coaches thought their brand of football wasn't even the best in Brooklyn.

"Bernie Wyatt (Iowa's defensive coach) recruits in the east and he got some film of Owen. I was impressed with him. I knew he hadn't played much, but you could tell he was a good athlete."

Phillips, now a 6-1, 215-pound senior, has lived up to his clippings, while the 6-2, 220-pound Gill has surpassed all expectations. Together they give the Hawkeyes a one-two punch so effective that when one goes down the slack is hardly noticeable.

Consider last season; Phillips rushed for 198 yards against Minnesota and followed with a 158 more in a win over Illinois.

Then came a knee injury in the ninth game at Purdue, knocking Phillips out until the Peach Bowl. Enter Gill as the starter.

The result: 157 yards in 28 carries. Gill added 102 more in the regular-season finale at Michigan State.

Phillips, despite his injury, ended the season as the Big Ten's third-best rusher with 806 yards. Gill. despite starting just four games — two at fullback when Norm Granger was injured — gained 683 yards and averaged a fine 5.0 yards every carry. He finished seventh in Big Ten rushing stats.

The two are vying for the starting spot this fall. Phillips may have a slight edge because he's a senior and is more experienced. But don't count out Gill, a junior.

If Phillips gets the nod, Gill won't be mad. If it's Gill. Phillips won't stalk off in a huff.

"We get along very well," said Gill, "We go out together and it seems I'm always either popping into his room or he comes over to see me."

Phillips covets a 1,000-yard season and hopes the National Football League will come calling. "I had a lot of nagging injuries last year." he says. "I learned to deal with it. I have to if I want to make the pros."

Not a flashy runner, Phillips "is the type who will 10-yard you to death," Jackson says. "Steady Eddie." The pros love Steady Eddies.

Gill is flashy. He loves to run at, around or over tacklers. He is so agile that Hawkeye coaches once considered using him as a kicker. Born in England, his second love is soccer.

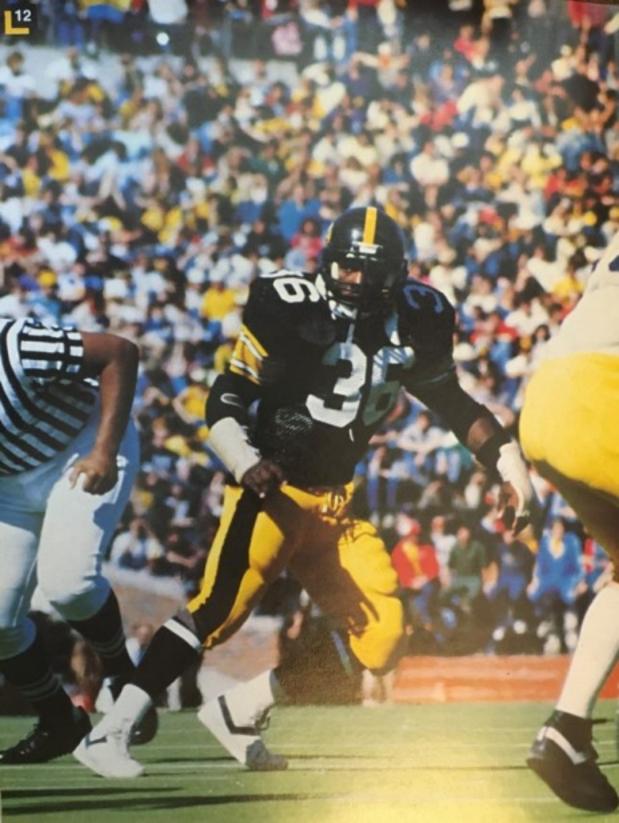

He had knee surgery following last season but reported the first day for spring drills and ran hard. After practice ended he joined the track team and came in fifth in the triple jump in the Big Ten meet. His nickname is the Baby Bull.

Steady Eddie or the Baby Bull. Both come across as gems.

LARRY STATION B

By Ron Maly

There will be no attempt here to call the football world of Larry Station violent. The social scientists wouldn't like it, the football people perhaps wouldn't like it and, heck, it could be that even the 230-pound Iowa sophomore linebacker wouldn't like it.

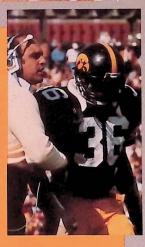

Still, the words they use to describe Station, and the way he plays defense, certainly are more at home in the combat arena than at your Aunt Josephine's afternoon tea party.

They are words like destroy. And explosive. And, oh, yes. Domination. No wonder he was a second-team all-Big Ten player and an all-America freshman in 1982. And no wonder Station received pre-season all-America recognition this year from The Sporting News.

"I ve never been around a linebacker who can do the things Station can do." says Barry Alvarez, his position coach. "He can over-run a play and be back "He can over-run a play and be back the control better than anyone else I've seen. The angle he uses to the ball is phenomenal."

It's fair to say that no one yet knows how good Station can be. That's because he spent a considerable part of his freshman year hurt.

"I couldn't even practice last spring," he said. "because of the surgery I had on my right shoulder. In our fourth game, I landed in an awkward position while diving for a ball carrier, but played with the injury the rest of year."

Despite that ailment, and a hamstring injury sustained earlier. Station was Iowa's top tackler as a freshman, even though he started just five games.

For the season, he had 51 solo tackles and 37 assists. Fifteen tackles came at Indiana, 14 against Michigan.

"It really didn't surprise me that I had so many tackles," Station commented. "Linebackers always get a lot of chances to make a lot of tackles. That's our job."

Alvarez says it's "scary" to wonder how good Station can be this season, providing he stays in one piece. "He's so much better than 1 anticipated," the linebacker coach said. "1 guess the thing that surprised me most was how well Larry picked up things so quickly.

"It's a big jump from high school to college, and most linebackers aren't asked to do the things we ask them to do here."

Station decided to attend Iowa after many other major colleges courted him, and after getting tremendous pressure from Nebraska coaches and fans to go to school at Lincoln when he was starring at Omaha Central.

"I liked the people at Iowa right away," he says. "I just felt I'd fit in better here. At Nebraska, a player can get lost in the shuffle with redshirt years and things like that. I thought I'd have a much better chance to play here right away."

Station, a National Honor Society member in high school, is majoring in computer science at Iowa. He has a variety of interests — he was a top discus and shot thrower in high school, and is a very good tennis player — and is always looking for new challenges. Like karate.

"I began taking karate lessons last summer in Omaha," he explained. "It's a form of self-defense and teaches you to develop your sense of balance."

Station isn't the first Iowa player to take a liking to karate. Andre Tippett did it before him, and all ol' Andre did was become an all-America defensive end.

Ron Maly has been writing about the Hawkeyes for more than 20 years for the Des Moines Register.

DAVE STROBEL (

By Steve Malchow

As the starting right defensive end for lowa's Big Ten leading defense of 1982, Dave Strobel was very concerned with sacking the opposing ballcarrier. In preparation for the 1983 season, Strobel spent his summer with another kind of sack on his mind. Garbage sacks.

"I picked up garbage sacks for the city of Spencer." Strobel explained. "The bad part is that I had to get up at 4 a.m. in order to be to work on time." Strobel got the summer job through his position coach at Iowa, Bernie Wyatt.

"It sure wasn't very exciting work, but at least I was done early so the whole afternoons were mine." Strobel said, During the summer, the afternoon routine often included a weight training session at Spencer's YMCA. "It was real nice to have some extra time in the daylight hours with the lakes (Okoboji) just a half hour away."

Coming from Minnesota, Strobel had a liking for fishing and skiing, so the Lake Okoboji area was like heaven to him. ''I love all water sports, so Spencer turned out to be more fun than I thought it might be.'' Strobel also noted that his girlfriend, a Milford native, lives near the lake. ''She worked just the opposite hours that I did, however,'' said Strobel.

Last season, Strobel played defense for the first time since high school. "At Hill-Murray, I was a tailback first and a linebacker second. Defense was always fun, although I preferred to run the ball."

When he arrived at Iowa, the 6-4, 225-pounder found out that there were other players who could carry the ball better than he. ''I started as a fullback, changed to wingback as a sophomore and finally settled in at defensive end last spring.'' Strobel recounted.

He insists that defensive end is really his favorite spot. "I'm finally becoming used to and comfortable with my responsibilities," he said. "You can be a lot more aggressive on defense and not hold anything back. On offense you can't afford to lose your cool, but on defense you can really get after people."

Assistant Head Coach and Defensive Coordinator Bill Brashier says Dave is going to be a great end just because of his physical capabilities. "He has a great combination of speed and size. Dave has great potential as a defensive end because he is a fierce competitor; a little more experience will help refine his skills even more."

Strobel missed spring drills with a sore ankle, but still emerged from camp with a new title. He is one of three captains for 1983 as voted by his teammates. "The captainship shows what great confidence his teammates have in Dave's ability." Brashier said. "The whole thing really shocked me." claimed Strobel. "I'll just go out and play as hard as I can and lead by example."

Strobel, an avid hockey fan of the Minnesota North Stars and scoring sensation Wayne Gretzky, misses that sport at Iowa. ''I follow it more closely at home, but I took a lot of abuse from my Chicago teammates when the Black Hawks beat the North Stars in the playoffs.'' Strobel played a little hockey in Minnesota, but didn't get as involved as some of his high school pals. "Dave Langedin (a defenseman for the New York Islanders) is a former high school friend, so I do have some special interest.

"Following pro sports back home is different than in Iowa. That's what makes Iowa such an attractive place for prospective athletes. At Iowa, your sport is the only event in town and there is no competition for attention. To me, that was one of the deciding factors."

As for his future, the General Studies major wants his shot at professional football. "It would be great to get a tryout and show them what I can do." Strobel admitted. You can bet that if he duplicates his 1982 season, Strobel will be doing his sacking on the field and not on the streets.

Steve Malchow is managing editor of the 1983 Hawkeye Action Guide and a graduate assistant in the Iowa Sports Information Office.

Q. Most pre-season polls have Iowa ranked in the top 20. Do you think this is a fair assessment of your team?

A. I have never given much value to a pre-season poll in college football. Too many variables are involved to make an accurate evaluation before the first snap of the football has been made. I'm confident polls will continue to be made regardless of my personal feelings. The top 20 sure beats the worst 20 as far as "coffee talk" goes.

Q. This appears to be the best collection of offensive players you have had at lowa. Just how good can this offense be in 1983?

A. Anytime I attempt to answer a question that asks 'how good can the team be this year' or 'how good can the offense be' I'm always concerned with the definition of ''good!'' We could be danged 'good' against some of the weak schedules but it remains to be seen how 'good' we will be against our tough opponents. Sometimes the folks we play against refuse to cooperate!

Q. You had a large number of outstanding running backs in the spring. Will some of these players be assigned elsewhere, or redshirted, for the 1983 season?

A. The key to a successful offense or defense in modern day college football is to keep all the players healthy. Unfortunately this is practically impossible. Therefore, the positions that take the most physical poundings require the greatest number of players. All of our running backs will receive an opportunity to play this fall.

Q. Owen Gill and Eddie Phillips are an exceptional 1-2 punch at running back. Is this duo capable of combining for 2.000 yards rushing? Also, do you have specific plans in alternating them this season?

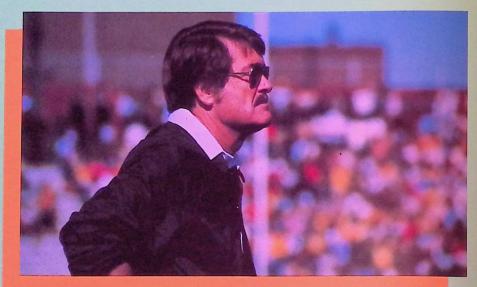

A. A coach can never be correct in trying to be a prognosticator in regards to football statistics. Our running backs are among the top group in college football this season as far as their personal ability to run with the football. However, the amount of yardage to be gained will be in direct proportion to the ability of their blockers to make room for them to run. Gill and Phillips will alternate but without a specific plan. Flexibility in the utilization of their specific abilities will determine their playing time.

Q. You have paid Chuck Long some fine compliments in the past. Compare him with some of your other outstanding quarterbacks. Just how good does he have the potential to be in the next two seasons?

A. Chuck Long has already earned all of the nice things I have said about him. He will continue to improve with additional experience. Right now I can only compare him with our number two quarterback, Tom Grogan. If Grogan gets much better than he was this spring then Chuck will be on the sideline with me. We have a great competitive battle among all of our quarterbacks.

Q. Iowa has led the Big Ten in total defense the past two seasons. Does this defense have the potential to make it three straight?

A. Our defense has been truly outstanding. We have established a tradition of coming up with the big defensive play to stop the opponents consistently during the season. We will continue to play hard nosed, sound, aggressive defense because that is the way our defensive staff coaches. I would never predict that we will lead the Big Ten in total defense in '83. I sure as heck wouldn't have predicted that we could lead the Big Ten in total defense in '82!

Q. In 1981 your defensive strength was against the run, last year its strength was more balanced. Where do you see the strength of this defense?

A. We try to keep the defensive and offensive practice time balanced in regards to the run or pass. The opponents will always dictate what we feature. We just try to stop the other fellows from scoring more than we do.

Q. Larry Station and Kevin Spitzig have the potential to be an outstanding linebacking combination, but neither engaged in spring practice. How much will this hurt?

A. I imagine that Larry and Kevin along with the 22 other players that missed spring practice will be a lot healthier than they would have been if they had practiced this spring. All coaches worry about players not practicing their fundamentals each day. However, we had to make a decision on what was most important so we excused them in order to rehabilitate their corrective surgery. I don't think the opponents will believe Larry and Kevin missed a day of practice.

Q. Your punting game was never resolved in spring practice. How will you approach this in August? Is it likely a new face will be punting for Iowa in 1983?

A. If we played today our number one punter would be Tom Nichol. Tom is a good college punter and he is determined to become an outstanding punter. People will have a tendency to compare future punters with Reggie Roby. I wouldn't call that very fair. Reggie led the world the past two years and his punting was instrumental in helping our defense do a great job. We will work with several potential punters this fall. They will have to be mighty good to move ahead of Tom.

Q. How do you see the Big Ten race in 1983?

A. The Big Ten race in '83 will be very exciting from week to week. I truly believe that this season will continue to show improvement by the socalled "little eight". As a result more so-called "upsets" will happen. Maybe sometime in the near future those "upsets" will be recognized as balance.

Q. Is your early season schedule, specifically the first four games, the toughest you have faced in your five years at lowa?

A. As a coach I always look at the upcoming season as the toughest in my career. The others are history. Certainly the '83 schedule would compare favorably with any schedule in the nation in regards to toughness. On the other hand it appears to offer one of the greatest opportunities in college football. Just look what we can achieve by being successful. What a fantastic challenge!

Q. The Big Ten has taken some raps in recent years because of its non-conference record and its record in bowl games. As a veteran coach, how do you see this grand old conference? Has it really slipped as much as some folks think?

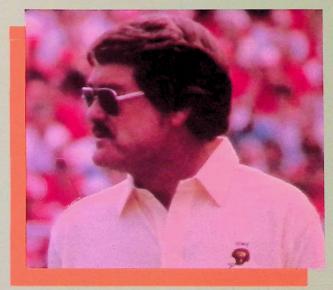

A. The Big Ten has always been one of the best football conferences in America. It will continue to be a leader in all intercollegiate sports. In recent years the quality of the intersectional opposition has been outstanding. Combine that with the Big Ten teams beating each other up each weekend and by the end of the regular season all of the teams appear to have just survived Dunkirk! There has been a recent trend to not schedule all of the top teams as non-conference opponents. Unfortunately this isn't the year for us.

Q. Your program at lowa has come a long way in four years — much further than most thought possible. Has the progress at lowa surprised you?

A. Our football coaches and players have worked exceptionally hard to return respectability to our program. We are dedicated to giving our best efforts to win each game. We obviously have made tremendous progress. It is also obvious that we can improve. Nothing is a surprise if it has been planned and put into action. Our present program is still young and we must continue to improve so that we will be in the hunt for a bowl game and Big Ten championship each year. Consistency is our objective.

Q. What are the advantages in coaching at Iowa?

A. All coaches make their own work environment. The advantages at Iowa are directly related to the cooperation of the people who approve or disapprove the coaches' request. Fortunately the people in the power positions realize the value of a top football program to the university and the state of lowa. Not having to compete with the pros for the entertainment dollar certainly is advantageous, too.

Q. What are the disadvantages in coaching in Iowa?

A. I assume all coaches can find fault with any situation. If they dwell on it enough they believe so many negative things that they forget how to build a winner. Coaching at lowa has to be one of the greatest environments for college football. We work hard in changing minuses into pluses. I'll have to admit that we have plowed up a lot of snakes and killed them.

Q. You obviously would like to have an indoor workout facility at Iowa. What sort of building are you thinking of, and what would it mean to your program?

A. I have been told that we will receive an indoor workout facility in the future. This facility will be of great value to all outdoor sports that have reason to practice during inclement weather. Men's and women's sports would benefit from an indoor practice facility and we all would enjoy seeing the construction soon.

Q. You have had little turnover in your lowa coaching staff. How have you been able to sustain this continuity on your staff?

A. I have always had a motto that you build a class program with class people. I put a premium on hiring outstanding citizens who will become outstanding coaches. My coaches have specific duties and responsibilities related to their jobs. Each man has an opportunity to make a valuable contribution to our success. I'm smart enough to let them make that contribution and express my appreciation to them for a job well done.

The Head Coach

Hayden Fry has put Iowa into football prominence in a surprisingly short time. Fry became the Hawkeyes' head coach Dec. 9, 1978, and after two years of building a solid foundation, he coached Iowa to consecutive 8-4 seasons and appearances in the Rose and Peach Bowls.

Those achievements came faster than most observers thought possible. Since Hayden inherited a program that was struggling to win a single Big Ten game, there was little thought of Big Ten championships in the near future. third in the Big Ten (they were picked for seventh), and polished off Tennessee in the Peach Bowl.

Iowa fielded a young ball club last season and the word is out to keep an eye on Fry's 1983 edition. Some preseason polls have the Hawkeyes in the Top Ten nationally and almost all estimates project them as a challenger in the Big Ten race. Fry has worked hard to gain respect and recognition for his program and the dedication has obviously paid dividends.

Iowa's success has not been surprising to those who have watched Hayden

But Iowa got a piece of the league title in 1981 and an invitation to Pasadena. A team that had been picked for the second division shared the championship with Ohio State, posted Iowa's first winning season since 1961. rose as high as sixth in the wire service polls and produced two consensus all-Americans.

Fry was honored as national coach of the year (Sporting News and Chevrolet/ABC-TV). Big Ten coach of the year (midwest news media), and NCAA District Five coach of the year (Football Coaches).

The 1981 team was virtually wiped out by graduation and Iowa dropped its first two games in 1982. But Hayden got his club rolling again and when another exciting season ended, the Hawkeyes had won eight of the last 10 games (the last three in a row), finished carefully construct his Hawkeye program. After inheriting a team that had won only two games in 1978, he fielded highly competitive teams that finished in the Big Ten's first division in both 1979 and 1980. Fry is the first Iowa coach to take an upper echelon spot in the Big Ten in each of his first four years.

Under Fry, Iowa attendance has reached capacity and facilities have greatly improved. Kinnick Stadium will have its fourth straight season-ticket sellout in 1983: 22 of the last 23 home games have attracted capacity crowds. The stadium was enlarged to 65,000 this year. Facility improvements include new artificial turf and one of the finest weight training complexes in the U.S.

Hayden is the only man who has won coach of the year honors in three major conferences (Southwest, Missouri Valley and Big Ten) and coached in five different bowl games (Sun, Cotton. Astro Bluebonnet, Rose and Peach).

His record at SMU. North Texas State and Iowa is 114-110-4. At SMU he coached 11 years (1962-72). His 1966 team won the Southwest Conference championship and went to the Cotton Bowl. He also had a Sun Bowl team in 1963 and an Astro Bluebonnet Bowl club in 1968, making him the only coach who has put teams in Texas' three major bowls. His record at SMU was 49-66-1 and he was the athletic director his last nine years at the school.

Hayden was coach and AD for six years at North Texas (1973-78), inheriting a sick program and making it a big winner (33-11) in his final four years there. His record at North Texas, which won only seven games in the four seasons prior to his arrival, was 40-23-3.

Fry has the reputation of being a coach who is innovative offensively and sound defensively. Often he is unpredictable.

His 1968 SMU team went to Ohio State and put the ball in the air 76 times. an NCAA passing record that stood for 12 seasons. His 1978 North Texas team and his 1981 Iowa club both led the nation in several defensive categories.

Named the Texas College Coach of the Year four times, Hayden broke the color barrier in the Southwest Conference when he recruited Jerry Levias. a Black wide receiver, at SMU. He has attracted outstanding assistants, including Bum Phillips, now head coach of the New Orleans Saints.

Fry has served many years on the UPI coaches' panel and is active in the American College Football Coaches Association, currently serving that organization on its ethics and all-America committees. He has participated in several NCAA-sponsored media seminars and promotional tours.

He has coached in several postseason all-star games, including the East-West Shrine Game, where he is 3-0 as head coach, and the Hula Bowl, where he will again serve as a coach in 1984. Fry's victory in the last East-West game gave him a 4-0 record for TV games last year (three wins at Iowa, one in the Shrine game).

A native of Odessa, Texas, Hayden was an all-state quarterback there and led his team to the 1946 Texas high school championship. He played at Baylor (1947-50), guarterbacking the Bears to a 26-13 record and earned a degree in psychology in 1951.

Fry was a player-coach with the Ouantico Marines (he reached the rank of captain), head coach in his hometown of Odessa three years (1956-58), assistant at Baylor two seasons (1959-60), and an aide at Arkansas in 1961 before moving to SMU as head coach.

An entertaining public speaker, Hayden has made hundreds of appearances before various groups since he arrived in Iowa. His wife's name is Shirley and he is the father of four sons, Randy, Zach, Kelly and Adrian, and a daughter, Robin. Randy, Zach and Kelly played for him at North Texas. Shirley has two children. Bryan and Jayme.

This is an interview with Bill Brashier, lowa's assistant head coach and defensive coordinator. Brashier is in his fifth year with the Hawkeyes. His defense led the Big Ten statistically the past two years, and in 1981 his unit allowed only 13 points per game, the lowest total at lowa since 1960. Brashier coached the defense for the victorious East team in the last East-West Shrine Game.

Q — You were recently named assistant head coach. What does this mean to you?

 $A \leftarrow It$ 's a title Coach Fry gave me and I consider it an honor. I think it's his way of saying I've done a good job. I was very gratified by the promotion. My responsibilities won't change. I'll still be in charge of the defense with the concentration on the secondary.

Q — Why have you turned down head coaching positions to stay at Iowa?

A - The only legitimate offer I've turned down has been the North Texas State job and that's because they're in the process of de-emphasizing football. They're having financial problems. Chances of going to a bowl game at North Texas are pretty slim. I would dearly love to be a head coach, but I want it to be at a good place. Whatever coaching time I have left. I want to be associated with the excitement and the thrill of big time college football, where if you win, then you're rewarded for it like our last two bowl games. At North Texas State we won nine games and ten games and were never considered for a bowl game. I would certainly consider a head coaching position on the level I'm now coaching. But, I don't think there's a better position in college football than at the University of Iowa. If our success at Iowa continues, and I expect it to continue, everyone on the coaching staff will have much better opportunities for head coaching jobs.

Q — Much of what you've achieved defensively has come with players not as talented as many of your opponents. How do you explain your success?

A - I believe we do a very good job of teaching. All of our coaches fit together well and do an exceptional job with the kids. We've had some excellent athletes on defense: not as many as maybe Ohio State or Michigan, but we're catching up. I think the main thing we do defensively that other people don't do. and maybe we've learned through years of experience, is to be a realistic defensive team. We ask our players to do the things they are realistically capable of doing. We won't ask them to do things they can't do. Another important factor is our continuing system. We don't change our system from year to year, aside from minor adjustment changes. The longer we stick with a system, the better the players perform in that system each year.

Q — You're gaining a reputation as the leader of one of the top defensive programs in college football. Do you have a basic formula for success?

A — The main reason is the system that repeats from year to year. But another very important thing we do really well is practice. We expect a high degree of performance level in practice. Our players are expected to practice very, very hard. I guess I'm from the old school that believes that you're going to play about like you practice. If you practice hard and well during the week, then you've got a pretty good chance of playing well on Saturday. We're always on our players to achieve that certain level of practice that will make them winners.

Q — What do you think is the single most important ingredient for successful defensive football?

A — We believe that if you don't allow your opponents the big plays — the easy, cheap touchdown — most offenses will eventually self-destruct. Very seldom do you see an offensive team drive 15 plays for a touchdown. It's hard to do because there are so many things that can go wrong, beginning with the snap. So our basic philosophy is to be very sound in what we do and try hard not to give up the big play.

Q — Why would you rather coach defense than offense?

A — Just about everybody thinks about the offense, but to me the greatest thrill is stopping the offense. I know those offensive coaches are always thinking of ways to attack. So it's a great feeling when I call a defense that is right for a particular play. It makes my defensive coaches and players feel like we've thrown our best and we've come out on top. It doesn't feel as good when you guess wrong, though.

Q — Can Iowa be the best defensive football team in the Big Ten again?

A — We have a tradition now and our players want to keep it going. The players want to be the top defensive team in the league and they'll work harder to get it again. We're capable of doing it again this year and one of the basic reasons is that our offense will be much improved. The better our offense is, the more they'll keep our defense off the field. We've had a very good ball control offense the last two years with an excellent kicking game and that's helped our defense. Very few times have we had to go on the field in bad position. We don't have Reggie Roby this year, so we may be taking the field in more precarious positions. Our defense won't have played together intact because of injuries to several players last spring. But when the players become used to each other and hopefully enjoy some success, we should have a pretty good defensive unit again.

Q — What makes coaching defense in the Big Ten so tough?

A — It used to be that if you could stop the run, you could win in the Big Ten. That's no longer true. The Big Ten is the most wide-open offensive conference in the country. It's one of the nation's leaders in passing and probably the hardest team' to defense is the team — and there are some in this league that throws maybe 50 times a game. We've been fortunate the last two years that we've been able to stop the run and lead the league doing it. So opponents have thrown the ball much more against us. Any way you look at it, the Big Ten is a tough league for defensive coaches because of the variety of offenses and formations we see.

Q — Why do most teams put their best athletes on defense?

A — The main reason is because of the old adage: "If a team can't score, if can't beat you." Obviously the fewer points you give up the better chance you have to win. If you've got to outscore your opponents to win, you might be in trouble. Teams that have to score 35 points a game to win are probably going to be no better than .500. On the other hand, if you can hold your opponent to two touchdowns or less, you've got a chance to beat anybody. The Rose Bowl year is a good example. We held eight opponents to a touchdown or less and won all those games.

Q — Do you think of yourself as a defensive innovator?

A — I think of myself as a sound defensive coach who has been through a lot of things. I know what has hurt us through the years and what's helped us. I continually draw on my experience in preparing game plans. I certainly don't consider myself a defensive genius.

Q — What's been the biggest satisfaction to you in all your years of coaching?

A - I've coached a long time, but I was nearly 40 when I moved up to the college ranks. I'd coached high school football until that time. So getting into college coaching as late as I did and getting to the University of Iowa has to rank real high on my list. When we thought about the move to Iowa, we said, "If we win up there we can go to some bowl games and if we win the league title we can go to the big one, the Rose Bowl." So without question the biggest satisfaction I've ever experienced as a coach was when we beat Michigan State and they were throwing roses out of the press box. It was then that the realization finally hit us that we made it, we're going to the Rose Bowl.

Q — You lost nine defensive starters in 1982 and yet you still had an excellent defensive team last year. Was that surprising to you?

A — We didn't know what to think after the first ball game. We knew we'd be taking an inexperienced defense against maybe the top offense in the country at Nebraska. We played terrible at Nebraska. We were very bad. Against Iowa State we weren't great, but we were much better. Then we faced another explosive team in Arizona on the road. I knew we'd be in for problems against Arizona. But when we played the way we did, especially in the second half, then I knew our defense had a good chance of being pretty good. You could start to see the aggressiveness and desire was there and that all we needed was experience. It was a surprise that we were able to lead the Big Ten in defense again.

Q - How good can Iowa's football team be in the future?

A = 1'll tell you one thing about Coach Hayden Fry and this staff. We always think big and that starts with the head man. He never goes on the field thinking there's no chance to win. We'll play the defending national champion, Penn State, in the second game. We won't go into the game hoping to just play well. We'll go in thinking we have a chance to win and so will our players. I think we've reached a point where we'll be competitive with anybody we play.

Bill Brashier

Assistant Head Coach Defensive Coordinator

Bill spent 11 years on the North Texas State staff before coming to lowa in 1979. He has been a head coach at high schools in San Antonio and Freer, Texas. He was a three-year starter at North Texas State as a defensive back, quarterback and punter. He still holds the school record for career pass interceptions with 19. His 10 interceptions during the 1951 season is also a school record. A navy veteran, he and his wife Ann have two sons (Randy and Scott) and a daughter (Lee Ann).

Brashier says:

"Ive been coaching a long time and believe me, the University of lowa and its football program are truly unique. I've never seen a place where football was so important to the entire community. Here in Iowa City and in the state of Iowa, Hawkeye football is just something special. I don't think there are many places like that in the country. We've been fortunate to have some winners the last few years. But that's no accident. We've had athletes with a lot of character and desire."

Offensive Coordinator Quarterbacks & Receivers Coach

Bill is a graduate of William Jewell College and won honorable mention all-America honors as a defensive back. He came to lowa in 1979 after spending three years at North Texas State. He served as offensive coordinator and swimming coach at Austin (Texas) College. He was a high school coach for five years in California and served as a graduate assistant at Southern Cal. He is the father of a son (Sean) and two daughters (Shannon and Meredith).

Snyder says:

"One of the most frequently asked questions is what kind of player do I look for? Well. I think first we're concerned with a young man's character, the quality of his background, the type of student he is and whether or not he'll make the effort to be a good student. These are all things we hope will carry over to the playing field. We feel strongly about getting the type of person who comes from a disciplined background, because it's a very disciplined setting here at lowa. We basically want a person who will do himself, his team and his university proud."

Defensive Ends Coach

An all-America prep at Amityville, N.Y., Bernie started for Iowa in the defensive backfield and was his team's most valuable player in 1960. He had seven career pass interceptions and played in the Blue-Gray allstar game following his senior year. He joined the Hawkeye staff in 1974 after coaching in high schools in Iowa and New York. He and his wife Barbara have two sons (Brad and Barry).

Wyatt says:

"I'm an Easterner and made Iowa my choice over 20 years ago. The reasons for a student's attending Iowa are the same now as they were when I enrolled. Iowa is a super academic institution and I think the Midwest is a friendly area. It takes a special person to play Big Ten football and make the commitment to gain a quality education. We require excellence from our players both on the field and in the classroom. The person who dedicates himself to both will be a winner."

Running Backs Coach

A former collegiate academic all-American, Carl came to Iowa in 1979 after three years at North Texas State. He served as a high school coach in Port Arthur and Aldine, Texas, A fouryear letterman in football, basketball and track as a prep in Bay City, Texas, he went on to collegiate stardom at Prairie View A&M. He placed third nationally (NAIA) in the long jump in 1961 and second in 1962. He and his wife Doris have a son (Carl) and a daughter (Chervi).

Jackson says:

"Our coaching staff puts a lot of stock in a man's character. We'd like to think on fourth and one that we have a youngster who will give us all he has rather than someone who's going to quit. I think running backs come in all sizes and shapes. You can't stereotype a player. You can't say you've got to be 6-2 or 6-3 to play a position when a guy 5-8 can play it just as well. Each back we have is unique. We get to know our players as people; we know them for more than just football."

Defensive Linemen Coach

DAN

A co-captain at Iowa in 1974, Dan joined the Hawkeye staff in 1977. He was an offensive guard at lowa and was drafted by the Atlanta Falcons. He served as a Hawkeye graduate assistant before joining the full-time staff. He lettered three times at lowa. He is a bachelor.

McCarney says:

'I know some may think it's corny. but I love football and the University of Iowa. I was brought up in Iowa City. played football for Iowa and now have the privilege of coaching for Iowa. It's really great seeing the good things happen to a place you love. I may coach somewhere else during my coaching career, but nowhere will I have the feeling for the job that I do now. I was an emotional-type player and I try and carry that over to my players now. When you play with emotion and great effort, good things are bound to happen.'

Receivers Coach

A three-year letterman at Central College, Del coached high school teams at Plainfield and Eagle Grove before coming to lowa in 1978. A fivesport letterman at Iowa Valley in Marengo, he was all-state in football and basketball and played for a state championship team in 1968. He also serves as lowa's recruiting coordinator. He and his wife Jan have three sons (Troy, Todd and Tad).

Miller says:

"We emphasize the positive in recruiting at Iowa, and we have a lot of positive things to talk about. We offer an outstanding education, we have great athletic facilities and wonderful fan support. It is true that this state does not offer a large recruiting base because of its small population, but we have other advantages that our competition does not and we try hard to capitalize on them. All of the positive things here, plus our two straight bowl invitations, make the job of the recruiting coordinator much easier."

Tight Ends Coach

DON

Don played at the U.S. Military Academy, then coached several service teams while in the army. He coached at North Texas State one season prior to coming to Iowa in 1979. A native Texan, he is the only athlete in the history of Blooming Grove high school to letter in six sports. He and his wife Lisa have a daughter (Brooke).

Patterson says:

"There's no question that fan support is a major reason for our success. Our support is second to none. I know that for a fact. It means a lot to the players to be appreciated the way they are at Iowa. Another important reason for our success is the fact that an incoming player is accepted into a very close knit family. I don't think there's any question that Iowa will become one of the top football programs in the country within a few years."

BARRY ALVAREZ

Linebackers Coach

A former all-Big Eight linebacker at Nebraska, Barry coached Mason City to the 1978 lowa AAA state title. He joined the Iowa staff in 1979. He has been named Coach of the Year in both Iowa and Nebraska. He played in the Orange and Sugar bowls and in the postseason Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games. He and his wife Cindy have two daughters (Dawn and Stacey) and a son (Chad).

Alvarez says:

"Having seen a lot of universities all over the country and having talked with prep coaches from all over, I believe there's no question that lowa offers a sincerity to players seen nowhere else. When we bring a recruit in for a visit, he's always pleased by what he finds at lowa. It's truly a great athletic and academic institution. I've found the typical Hawkeye is more dedicated to overall excellence than simply athletic excellence."

Offensive Linemen Coach

FERENTZ

KIRK

Kirk joined the Iowa staff in 1981 after coaching at Connecticut, Worcester Academy (Mass.), and Pittsburgh. He was a captain and linebacker at Connecticut and earned all-conference academic honors there. A native of Pittsburgh, he and his wife Mary have a son (Brian).

Ferentz says:

"I'm still pretty new to Iowa athletics, but it didn't take me very long to figure out why Iowa fans are so special. Win or lose, the support is outstanding. No matter how far we travel on the road, there always seems to be an entire section of Iowa fans at the game. I think bowl scouts are amazed at the number of people we bring to a game. Iowa City is a fun place to live, to coach and to play football. I feel very

Weight Training Coach

Bill joined the lowa staff in 1980 and is the school's first strength coach. He achieved football stardom at West Chester State. He earned allconference honors in football at the school and was named most valuable on the football team. He did weight training research at Army and was on the Penn State staff before coming to lowa. He and his wife Terry have a son (Sean).

Dervrich says:

"It is my job to help our athletes attain maximum physical efficiency. We don't pump up our players just to make them look good; we want to help them perform as well as possible. We have built and developed one of the best weight-training programs in the nation and we are very proud of it. Our athletes realize how important strength is to team success and to their own personal achievements. They work extremely hard to become as strong as possible."

Past Year—Was the top placement kicker and was also called upon to do the short punting. Made all 31 extra point attempts and four of 11 field goals to pace the Hawkeyes in scoring with 43 points. Has made 38 PATs in a row, dating back to the Purdue game of 1931. The school record is 42 straight. His string is ninth best in Big Ten history. Best game was Northwestern where he made all six PAT attempts and a careerlong field goal of 49 yards. A 20-yard FG with 2:20 left won the Arizona game. Made FGs against Indiana (24 yards) and Michigan State (41). Punted the pigskin out of bounds on the 11 and 12-yard lines vs Michigan. Best punt of the year was a 43-yarder that rolled out of bounds on the one-foot line with 24 seconds left vs Illinois. Punted nine times, averaging 34.6 yards. Will handle the placements this fall, and is the top prospect to take over for graduated all-American punter Regeie Roby.

College Career—Freshman season, he became the top kicker in the third game and went on to become the Big Ten's third most productive scorer. Tied school records for single-game PATs attempted (nine) and made (eight) vs Northwestern in 1981. Made three field goals as a rookie vs Michigan to spark a 9-7 lowa win. Averaged 31.1 yards per punt in 1981 as the short punter.

High School—Three-year football standout at quarterback and kicker as well as a track and soccer performer. Captained football team and gained first-team all-state honors. Holds Preble school record for 54-yard field goal.

Past Year-Second-team all-American according to Sporting News. The top returning rusher in the conference. Ended up fourth in all-purpose running, ninth in total offense and 10th in rushing in the Big Ten. Was the starting tailback all season until he hurt his knee in the ninth game at Purdue. Rushed for 806 yards on 166 carries, a 4.9 average. Iowa's second best receiver, getting 26 receptions for 200 yards, a 7.7 average. Completed one of two passes vs Illinois for 36 yards. Ran for 198 yards (fifth best in Iowa history) at Minnesota on 36 carries, winning offensive player of the game honors. He followed that game with 158 yards (13th in Hawkeye history) against Illinois to get AP Midwest Player of the week and CBS-TV honors. He rambled 30 yards on a third and 29 situation to keep a drive going late in the fourth quarter vs the Illini. Other top efforts came against Northwestern (95 yards and a 27-yard TD catch), Indiana (73 yards and two rushing TDs), Arizona (61 yards and five receptions) and Purdue (42 yards in the first half before getting hurt). In the Peach Bowl, he came off the bench to gain 34 yards and score on a 2-yard dive in the third period. Locked in a close battle with Owen Gill for the starting spot this fall. His 806 yards rushing in a season ranks fourth on the all-time list.

College Career—Second-leading rusher as a sophomore and the top threat until an ankle injury at midseason. Finished with 543 yards, including 101 vs Indiana. Returned kickoffs and punts earlier in his career. Has 1,404 career rushing yards, the seventh best in Hawkeye history.

The University of Iowa

From its founding in 1847, The University of Iowa has been an educational pioneer. In 1860 Iowa became the first state university to admit women on an equal basis with men. In 1868 it established the first law school west of the Mississippi River and in 1870 began to develop one of the first universitybased medical centers in the Midwest. Today, the University ranks among the Midwest's leading centers of liberal arts, graduate and professional education. Located in Iowa City, the University now has an enrollment of some 30,000 students, over 1,500 faculty members and a 1,900-acre campus. The University Libraries house more than 2 million volumes and include a Health Sciences Library, which features a collection of rare books.

The University is comprised of ten colleges—Liberal Arts, Graduate, Business Administration, Medicine, Engineering, Law, Nursing, Pharmacy, Dentistry and Education—as well as seven schools—Art and Art History, Journalism and Mass Communication, Letters, Library Science, Music, Religion and Social Work.

The University has maintained its tradition as an innovator, originating the interdisciplinary science of speech pathology and pioneering in the acceptance of creative work-painting, sculpture, musical composition, poetry, drama and fiction writing. Its Writers' Workshop has gained a world reputation in the teaching of creative writing. The International Writers' Workshop, begun by Paul Engel and now under the direction of Hualing Nieh Engel, is the most respected in the world. Under the leadership of James Van Allen, the University has also played a major role in U.S. space programs, such as the Voyager space probes.

The University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics serve as the apex of a major tertiary health care center, the largest university-owned teaching hospital in the United States. The University's Hancher Auditorium, now in its 12th season, offers concerts, ballet and theatrical productions, featuring such renowned artists and groups as Vladimir Horowitz, the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater and the Vienna Choir Boys.

George Wine

Kinnick Stadium is located on the west campus in the heart of the University's athletic complex. It is a few minutes' drive from Interstate 80 and the Iowa City airport, about 30 minutes from the Cedar Rapids airport.

Pressbox at the stadium is on the west side and accessible by elevator. One of the nation's finest, it was completed in 1958 at a cost of $490.000 (cost to build Kinnick Stadium was $500,000 in 1929). The first deck accommodates the working press. The second deck contains 14 booths for radio and television. The third and fourth levels have photo and radio booths and VIP areas. A pregame lunch is served on all levels. The pressbox is 100 feet high and extends between the 25-yard lines.

Press Ticket requests should be directed to George Wine, sports information director. Requests should be filed early enough in advance to allow time for processing.

Athletic Offices are located in Carver-Hawkeye Arena on the west campus near the stadium.

Motels in the immediate Iowa City area that have both a restaurant and lounge are the Abbey (351-6324), Highlander Inn (354-2000), Ironmen Inn (351-6600), Howard Johnson's Lodge (351-1010), Coachman Inn (645-2940), Iowa Lodge (354-5500), and Cantebury Inn (351-4787).

Your Hosts in the Kinnick Stadium pressbox are George Wine and Phil Haddy.

Wine joined the Iowa staff in 1968 after working at Northern Iowa and Memphis State. A native of North English, he's an Air Force veteran and an Iowa graduate. George and his wife, Anne, have a son, Steve.

Haddy became part of the Hawkeye staff in 1971. A native of Cedar Rapids, he holds two degrees from Iowa and has worked for two radio stations. Phil and his wife, Elaine, have a son, Jason, and a daughter, Jamie.

Sports Information Office is located in Suite 205 of the Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Marilyn Stagg is the office secretary. Steve Malchow and Bryan Harlan are student assistants. The office phone number is 319/353-3038.

The Iowa press box has been cited by the Football Writers of America for outstanding service and facilities.

Iowa State Outlook

There's a new outlook in Ames this year with the hiring of Jim Criner as the head coach. Criner, who went 59-21-1 in seven years at Boise State, inherits a young team with only nine returning starters. Backfield positions are in good hands with quarterback David Archer, who threw for 1,465 yards, and secondteam all-Big Eight runner Tommy Davis. Graduation stole most of the offensive line, so much will be expected from tackle Benn Musgrave and guard Bruce Reimers. The defense is led by linebacker Chris Washington, who has led the conference in solo tackles the last two seasons. Alvin Baker is the Defending national champion Penn State faces the task of replacing 13 starters. All-Americans Todd Blackledge (QB) and Curt Warner (RB) are in the pros and competition is fierce for their spots. defense, leading tackler Mike Boren is back, along with outside backer Carlton Rose. The defensive line is powerful inside with middle guards Al Sincich and Nate Rodgers. Free safety Evan Cooper is the only returnee in a secondary which will be full of new faces. Punter Don Bracken is another bright spot, but the Wolverines must replace all-league kicker All Haji-Sheikh. Michigan has Ohio State and Iowa in Ann Arbor as it attempts to make it to Pasadena for the sixth time in the last eight vears.

Indiana Outlook

First-year Coach Sam Wyche promises a wide open offense this fall, but after spring drills there isn't a clear cut frontrunner at quarterback. It is a three-way battle between senior Cam Cameron and sophomores Steve Bradley and Roger Remo. The catchers are present in the persons of speedy Duane Gunn and dependable tight end Scot McNabb. A seasoned offensive line led by all-league selection Jim Sakanich should open some good holes for experienced runners Orlando Brown. Jack Walsh, Bobby Howard and Johnnie Salters. Only four starters

Wisconsin Outlook

Coach Dave McClain has guided his Badgers to bowl games the past two seasons, but the going might be tougher in 1983 with only eight starters back. The passing game should be productive with senior Randy Wright at the controls. Wright has three tremendous targets back in Al Toon, Jeff Nault and Michael Jones. Four 1,000-yard career rushers have departed, so the running game is somewhat suspect. Leading candidates in the backfield are Larry Emery and fullbacks Marck Harrison and Joe Armentrout. A rebuilding job will also be needed on defense with seven starters gone. Leading perform-

Michigan State Outlook

A formidable task faces new Coach George Perles as he tries to rebuild last year's 2-9 team. There are 33 lettermen returning, including four starters on each side of the line. Defense will be the team strength, led by all-American candidate Carl Banks at linebacker. Banks is a two-time all-Big Ten selection. Veteran Daryl Dixon is a standout strong safety in a secondary that also boasts the return of cornerback Carter Kamana and free safety Tim Cunningham. On offense, sophomore quarterback Dave Yarema will have good receivers in tight end Tom Robinson and split end Daryl Turner. Running the Minnesota does return a solid receiver in tight end Jay Carroll. Center Randy Rasmussen will be a key on the offensive line. Six starters are

NEBRASKA 42, IOWA 7 (9/11/82)

LINCOLN. NEB.—Third-ranked Nebraska got revenge for the 1981 upset loss in Iowa City, coasting to a 42-7 victory over the Hawkeyes. The Cornhuskers assumed control of the game from the outset, moving to a commanding 28-0 lead at the intermission. All Iowa could manage was a four-yard touchdown run by reserve quarterback Tom Grogan in the fourth quarter. The Big Red tallied touchdowns on three of its first four possessions, while at the same time holding the Hawkeye offense without a first down. Nebraska totaled over 500 yards offensively, including 343 rushing. A bright spot for Iowa was tight end Mike Hufford, who caught 4 passes for 67 yards.

IOWA STATE 19, IOWA 7 (9/18/82)

IOWA CITY, IA.—For the third straight year, Iowa State placekicker Alex Giffords spelled defeat for the Hawkeyes. He booted four field goals to pace a 19-7 Cyclone triumph. Iowa jumped out to an early lead when defensive end Tony Wancket picked off a Cyclone pass and returned it 26 yards for a touchdown. The Hawkeyes held a 7-3 advantage at halftime, and a 7-6 lead early in the fourth quarter, until Giffords' third field goal lifted the Cyclones to a 9-7 advantage. The Hawkeye offense got only 102 total yards and no points. Iowa linebacker Kevin Spitzig had a hand in 15 tackles.

IOWA 17, ARIZONA 14 (9/25/82)

TUCSON, AZ.—The Hawkeyes mounted a 431-yard attack that mowed down favored Arizona 17-14. Sophomore quarterback Chuck Long connected on 18 of 27 passes for 187 yards and two touchdowns. The first strike came in the second quarter when Long threw nine yards to J.C. Love Jordan. Long's other touchdown pass came in the third quarter when split-end Dave Moritz fielded a 14-yard toss. Tom Nichol's 20-yard field goal with two minutes left proved to be the winning margin.

IOWA 45, NORTHWESTERN 7 (10/2/82)

IOWA CITY, IA.—The Iowa defense held Northwestern to just 54 yards rushing, and the offense had a banner day rolling up 463 yards as the Hawkeyes crushed the Wildcats 45-7 before a jubilant homecoming crowd. Owen Gill scored on the second play from scrimmage, dashing 52 yards for a touchdown. Dave Moritz caught a 36yard strike from Chuck Long later in the period giving Iowa a 14-0 first quarter cushion. The Hawkeyes featured a balanced rushing attack with Eddie Phillips. Paul McCarty and Gill gaining 234 yards. Long was 9 of 11 for 131 yards, hitting his last nine passes. The Iowa defensive line sacked quarterback Sandy Schwab seven times.

IOWA 24, INDIANA 20 (10/9/82)

BLOOMINGTON. IND.—A couple of alert Hawkeye defensive backs preserved a 24-20 Hawkeye win over stubborn Indiana. Devon Mitchell tackled Hoosier tight end Scott McNabb at the two-yard line as time expired; Ron Hawley intercepted a Babe Laufenberg pass on the two-yard line on Indiana's previous possession. Eddie Phillips rushed for two first half touchdowns, but Iowa trailed at intermission 17-14. The big play of the game for Iowa came in the third quarter when Norm Granger caught a screen pass from Chuck Long and raced 63 yards for the touchdown. Laufenberg had the best day of his career, hitting 26 of 36 attempts for 390 yards, while Duane Gunn caught six passes for 156 yards. A fourth quarter Tom Nichol field goal seemed to ice the game for the Hawks, but Iowa had to withstand a furious Indiana rally. The lead changed hands five times.

MICHIGAN 29, IOWA 7 (10/16/82)

IOWA CITY, IA.—Big Ten champion Michigan overpowered the Hawkeyes, 29-7. After a scoreless first quarter, Iowa put together a successful drive but Owen Gill fumbled inches away from the end zone to halt the threat. Michigan gained the momentum and the Hawkeyes never really got back in the game. The Wolves were paced by Lawrence Ricks, who rushed for 120 yards, and all-American Anthony Carter, who totaled 164 yards on three receptions and five kick returns. The Hawkeyes' lone score came in the fourth quarter when Chuck Long fired eight yards to Mike Hufford. The Michigan defense limited Iowa to 47 yards rushing.

IOWA 21, MINNESOTA 16 (10/23/82)

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—Eddie Phillips rushed for a career-high 198 yards to lead the Hawkeyes past Minnesota 21-16, and bring Floyd of Rosedale back to Iowa for the first time since 1977. Iowa's defense intercepted four passes, with thefts by James Erb and Nate Creer setting up two scores. With Phillips leading the way, Iowa had a 7-6 edge at halftime. Iowa took the second-half kickoff and stormed 80 yards to a touchdown in 10 plays, with Chuck Long sneaking for his second touchdown. Phillips clinched the game

IOWA 14, ILLINOIS 13 (10/30/82)

IOWA CITY, IA.—Iowa used reverses, halfback passes, a fake field goal and an assortment of other tricks to upset high-powered Illinois in a regionally televised game 14-13. Eddie Phillips led the Hawkeye attack, running for 158 yards in 27 carries and scoring Iowa's first touchdown. The score was set up after Phillips passed 36 yards to wingback Ronnie Harmon, and after Harmon sped 26 yards on a reverse. Harmon scored Iowa's winning touchdown late in the third quarter, catching an 8-yard pass from Chuck Long deep in the end zone. Illini quarterback Tony Eason completed 31 of 46 passes for 292 yards.

PURDUE 16, IOWA 7 (11/6/82)

WEST LAFAYETTE, IND.—For the 12th straight time, Iowa lost to Purdue at Ross-Ade Stadium. Problems with the kicking game led to the Hawkeyes' downfall. Steve Griffin fielded a Reggie Roby punt and scampered 71 yards down the sideline for one touchdown, and two Iowa fumbles on punt and kickoff returns set up Boilermaker field goals. Purdue scored all 16 of its points in the first half while shutting out the Hawkeyes. Iowa got on the board when tight end Kelly O'Brien made a diving catch of a Chuck Long pass for a touchdown midway through the third quarter. Led by Mike

Yacullo's 13 tackles, Iowa held the Boilermakers to just 41 yards rushing. Iowa outgained the Boilermakers 269-236 in total offense and had a 15-14 advantage in first downs, but the Hawkeyes couldn't overcome first half mistakes.

IOWA 28, WISCONSIN 14 (11/13/82)

IOWA CITY, IA.—Owen Gill rushed for 157 yards and two touchdowns and the Hawkeye defense recorded a school record seven interceptions as Iowa downed Wisconsin 28-14. Gill broke a 7-7 deadlock in the second quarter when he broke loose on a 44-yard scoring run. Then Bobby Stoops stepped in front of a Wisconsin pass and returned it to the 15-yard line, setting up a oneyard touchdown plunge by Chuck Long. Wisconsin scored on the game's first play from scrimmage when Troy King sprinted 89 yards, and threatened late in the first half. James Erb ended that bid when he intercepted a Badger pass in the end zone. Erb intercepted another pass early in the third quarter to set up lowa's final score. In addition to two touchdowns rushing, Long had another impressive aerial day, hitting 14 of 22 for 177 yards. Noseguard Dave Browne led Iowa tacklers with 11, recorded two fumble recoveries and had two quarterback sacks.

IOWA 24, MICHIGAN STATE 18 (11/20/82)

EAST LANSING, MICH.—Iowa earned a berth in the Peach Bowl with a 24-18 victory at Michigan State. Iowa played like a bowl-bound team in the first half, roaring to a 24-3 lead behind three Owen Gill touchdowns. The momentum swung Michigan State's way midway through the fourth quarter when a pass interception and recovered fumble led to two quick Spartan touch-

IOWA 28, TENNESSEE 22 (12/31/82)

ATLANTA, GA.—Iowa rode the brilliant passing of Chuck Long in the first half and hung on for a 28-22 Peach Bowl win over Tennessee. Long completed 14 of 17 tries in the first two periods for 231 yards and three TDs as the Hawkeyes built up a 21-7 lead. On the day, Long threw for 304 yards, a career high. Split end Dave Moritz tied a Peach Bowl game record with eight receptions, all in the first half. Freshman wingback Ronnie Harmon scored on two pass receptions in the Hawkeyes' 21-point second quarter. Quarterback Alan Cockrell keyed a second half Volunteer rally, completing 22 of 41 passes. James Erb starred on the defensive team with 12 stops and cornerback Nate Creer got eight tackles and blocked a PAT. Long set bowl game records for yards passing (304) and total offense (306) and Moritz' 168 yards receiving was also an all-time best for the bowl game.

Hawkeye History

Iowa's All-Time Team

Hawkeye fans selected an all-time lowa team in 1970 as part of the Big Ten's 75th anniversary celebration. Calvin Jones, who won the Outland Trophy in 1955, received more votes than any player. In a separate ballot, Nile Kinnick, winner of the 1939 Heisman Trophy. was named Iowa's greatest player of all time.

Hall of Fame Hawkeyes

Twelve men who have been associated with lowa football are members of the Hall of Fame, named by the National Football Foundation and/or the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Seven men have been named to the Halls of both foundations: Howard Jones, coach: Nile Kinnick, player; Gordon Locke, player: Fred (Duke) Slater, player; Dr. Edward Anderson, coach: Edward (Slip) Madigan, coach: Calvin Jones, player.

Four men have been named to the Hall of the Helms Foundation: Calvin Jones, player; Ossie Solem, coach: Emlen Tunnell, professional player; Eric Wilson, publicist.

Aubrey Devine was named to the NFF Hall as a player.

Retired Numbers

Numbers 24 and 62 have been retired at Iowa to honor the players who last wore them. Nile Kinnick was No. 24 with the legendary Ironmen in 1939. The versatile halfback was consensus all-America, a Phi Beta Kappa scholar, and recipient of the Heisman Trophy. Guard Cal Jones wore No. 62 while earning all-America honors three times and winning the Outland Trophy in 1955. Both Kinnick and Jones died in airplane accidents.

Herky and the Hawkeyes

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally applied to a hero in a fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Author Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived and hunted with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of lowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James G. Edwards of Fort Madison. Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawk-Eye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name and were rewarded when territorial officials gave it their formal approval. The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawk, was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism. The impish hawk was an immediate hit and he acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth more than 35 years ago. Herky has symbolized lowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot with a black leather head and gold felt feathers. Since then Herky has become a familiar figure at Hawkeye athletic events.

Floyd of Rosedale

A bet in 1935 between Minnesota Governor Floyd B. Olson and Iowa Governor Clyde Herring gave birth to Floyd of Rosedale. Tensions between the two state universities had been running high and a wager was made in an effort to relieve the situation. After Iowa lost the game, Herring presented Olson with Floyd of Rosedale, a fullblooded champion pig and a brother of Blue Boy of Will Rogers' movie. State Fair. Olson presented the pig to the University of Minnesota and commissioned Saint Paul sculptor Charles Brioscho to capture Floyd's image. The result is a bronze pig 21 inches long and 15 inches high. Floyd currently resides in lowa City as a result of last year's Hawkeye victory.

When Iowa played at Michigan State in the final football game of 1983 the goal posts came crashing down before Hawley.

The incident happened late in the second quarter when the Spartans, onthird and long, threw a pass deep into the end zone. On coverage, Hawley, raced across the rear of the end zone and smack in a goal post upright. The "H" shaped posts collapsed like a house of cards.

The action came to a screeching halt. Then the intended Michigan State receiver ran over to Hawley and deliv-ered a couple of high fives. Players on the field and sidelines fell over in laugh-ter, in the press tox and stands, the
