THE OPENING TIP

Shanda Berry begins her senior year as a pre-season all-American and the top returning scorer on the Hawkeye roster.

Leading the Nation

In just five years, The University of Iowa basketball program has claimed the national spotlight and proven its individuals as the best in the country. Michelle Edwards ended her golden four-year career by earning the 1988 Champion Player of the Year honor, becoming the first Hawkeye to be named a first-team all-American and a three-time all-Big Ten choice. Head Coach C. Vivian Stringer also won national praise as the Converse Div. I Coach of the Year. Franthea Price earned all-Big Ten honors, while Shanda Berry was named to the second team and Jolette Law to the honorable mention squad. Last summer, Law competed on the silver medal-winning U.S. entry to the Jones Cup Games in Taiwan.

IOWA vs. MICHIGAN

Tonight's Game Friday, Jan. 6, 7:30 p.m. Carver-Hawkeye Arena

Tonight marks Iowa's first step of an 18-game trek to defend the Big Ten Conference title. The past two seasons, the Hawkeyes have posted 17-1 league records and captured two Big Ten titles. Last year, however, was Iowa's first sole ownership of the crown.

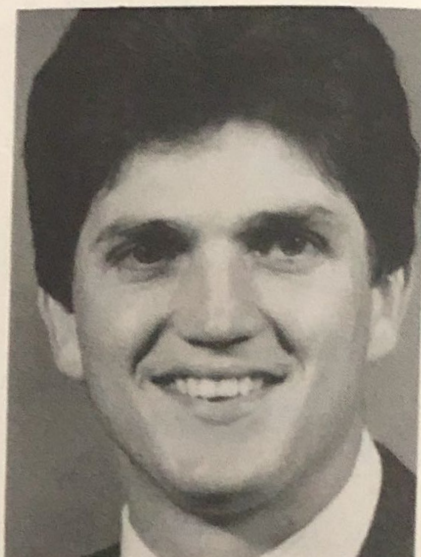

Iowa brings a 9-2 record into this evening's contest after finishing third at the eight-team Burger King/Pepsi Classic in Miami, Fla. The Hawkeyes picked up wins over Big Eight Conference standouts Oklahoma, 86-69, and Nebraska, 84-67, but lost to Inglesina, a professional Italian team. That loss is considered an exhibition game by the NCAA and does not effect Iowa's record or statistics.

The Hawkeyes have yet to lose a Big Ten season opener since C. Vivian Stringer took over the UI program in 1983. The sixth-year Iowa coach is 74-16 (.822) against conference foes and has won 43 of 45 Big Ten games played in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Iowa has won 31-consecutive league games on its home court, with the last loss coming in February 1985, 56-47, to Ohio State. Despite the loss, that contest made Iowa, Big Ten, and NCAA history as 22,157 fans shoehorned into Carver-Hawkeye Arena to witness the first better-than-sell-out in women's basketball. Stringer's only other Big Ten loss in the Arena came in her first league season, 64-56 to the Buckeyes.

Iowa leads its series against the Wolverines 10-2 and is 9-1 since Stringer took the Hawkeye reins. The 1986 Iowa squad dropped a 58-56 nailbiter to Michigan at Ann Arbor. Last year, Stringer paced her squad to a 89-54 win at Ann Arbor and a 76-55 victory over the Wolverines in Iowa City.

Michigan ended the 1988 league season in a sixth-place tie with Indiana with a 7-11 mark, the team's highest Big Ten finish ever. Fifth-year Wolverine head coach Bud VanDeWege brings a 18-54 Big Ten record into league play.

Bud VanDeWege
Wolverine Head Coach

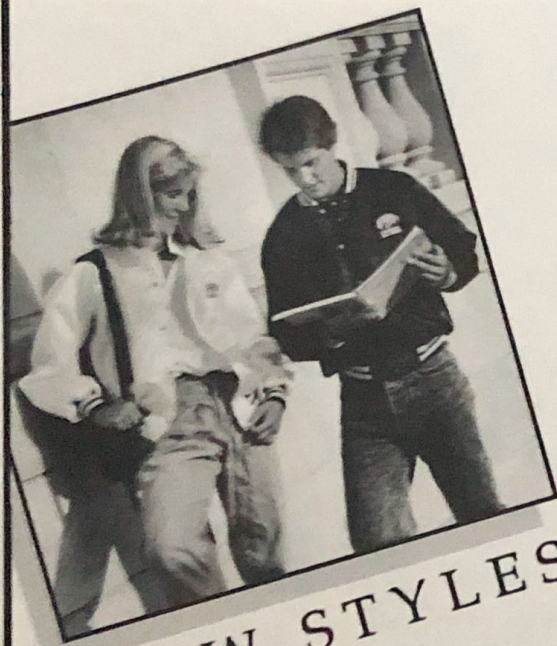

Tonight's contest could provide some benchmark statistics for three Hawkeye players. Senior center Shanda Berry is just 11 points shy of her 800th career point. Berry, who ranks 11th on Iowa's all-time scoring list, averages 16.9 points per game. The Oelwein, Iowa, native also needs only three rebounds to move to sixth on Iowa's career charts. Berry sports 480 career boards, while former Hawkeye all-American Michelle Edwards holds a slim margin with 482.

Four hundred could be a magic number for two Iowa juniors. Guard Jolette Law needs just one point to score her 400th career notch as a Hawkeye. Forward Franthea Price must grab four rebounds to reach her 400th career board. Price ranks eighth on Iowa's all-time rebounding list behind Berry.

Iowa continues Big Ten action Sunday, Jan. 8, when it entertains Michigan State. Tipoff is set for 3 p.m. in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

Preparations are already underway for the biggest showdown in Big Ten basketball -- Iowa vs. Ohio State. Tickets for that Sunday, Jan. 15 clash can be purchased at the Iowa Athletic Ticket Office on the concourse of the Arena.

HAWKEYE SPOTLIGHT

Felicia Hall

6-2, Soph., Forward
Shreveport, Louisiana
(Green Oaks High School)

Ask any Iowa basketball aficionado to name the most improved player on the Hawkeye roster and chances are Felicia Hall will be the unanimous choice. After seeing limited time in two thirds of Iowa's games as a rookie, the sophomore forward has seen action in all of Iowa's contests and was among the starting five in six games this season. In Iowa's season-opener against Wyoming, Hall led the Hawkeyes with a career-high 12 rebounds. She reached double-figure scoring for the first time in her collegiate career by tallying 10 points against Oregon State.

Last Year: Saw action in 21 games as a rookie.. .averaged 1.3 points and 2.0 rebounds in 4.5 minutes per contest...tallied a career-high six points against Minnesota in Iowa City...against the Gophers, Hall sank two free throws with eight seconds remaining to give Iowa its first 100-point game under Coach Stringer ...grabbed a career-best eight rebounds against Illinois...scored two points in each of Iowa's three NCAA post-season contests.

Felicia Hall

In high school: Led Green Oaks High School to the runner-up position at the Louisiana state championship as a senior...Green Oaks finished the year 32-6 overall...Hall was named to the state 4A all-star team and finished as the leading scorer and most valuable player of the squad...named to the all-state team last season...also selected for academic all-state honors...three-year all-conference pick...four-year basketball and track letterwinner...captained Green Oaks as a junior and senior.

Personal: Born 8-18-69...one of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hall of Shreveport, Ill...nickname is Fedi Red.

THE HEAD COACH

C. Vivian Stringer

How does one describe C. Vivian Stringer? Do you tell how in five years she has lifted Iowa from the bottom of the Big Ten barrel to the top of the nation's polls? Do you mention that since she arrived in the Hawkeye state attendance at Iowa games has increased more than 2,750 percent?

Perhaps you describe her undistractable intensity as she patrols the sideline or her quick, warm smile to the fans awaiting her as she exits the court. Do you tell of her love for the three young children to whom she is a full-time mother, or her love for the 15 young women to whom she is a part-time mother?

Maybe it is simpler to use the words dreams, belief, warmth, excitement, and success to describe Stringer and what she has brought to the Iowa program. Maybe her coaching peers said it all in one gesture-- when they chose Stringer as the 1988 Converse Coach of the Year.

The dynamic coach begins her sixth season as a Hawkeye with a remarkable career record of 365-83 (.815), a mark that includes a five-year stint at Iowa of 114-32 (.781) and a 74-16 (.822) ledger against Big Ten Conference opponents. Stringer is the third winningest coach in the profession and the only coach to ever lead two Div. I schools to a No. 2 or better ranking on the Associated Press poll. She is the winningest coach in Iowa history and the only one to lead the Hawkeyes to 20-win seasons and NCAA postseason competition.

Since Stringer's arrival in Iowa, the school has firmly established itself as one of the nation's leaders in attendance, ranking among the top three schools in average figures.

Among the most respected women's basketball coaches in the nation, Stringer has received numerous awards but none more prestigious than the 1988 Converse Coach of the Year honor and the 1982 NCAA Division I Coach of the Year award. She was named the 1988 and 1985 NCAA District V Coach of the Year and was tabbed coach of the United States' entry to the 1985 World University Games in Kobe, Japan, following the 1984-85 season.

In 1979, Stringer coached in Mexico and in 1981 she toured China as head coach of the U.S. Select Team. She also coached in the 1982 National Sports Festival in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Also an active administrator, Stringer was instrumental in the development of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association. She currently is a voting board member of the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States of America and the Nike Shoe Company Coaches Advisory Board. In 1987, Stringer began a three-year appointment as the Big Ten's representative to the NCAA Div. I Midwest Basketball Committee.

A native of Edenborn, Pennsylvania, and a member of the Alumni Hall of Fame at her alma mater, Slippery Rock State College, Stringer is married to William D. Stringer. The couple has three children, David, Janine, and Justin.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Renée DeVarney

The 1988-89 season marks Renee DeVarney's first with The University of Iowa basketball program.

DeVarney joins the Hawkeye staff after serving for two years as the assistant coach at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. During the 1987-88 season, Army posted a 19-13 mark, won the Empire State Conference Tournament, and advanced to the NCAA Division II East Regional championship game.

Prior to joining the Army staff, DeVarney spent two years as the assistant coach at her alma mater the University of Vermont.

Marianna Freeman

Continuing a long and prosperous association with C. Vivian Stringer is Marianna Freeman, who is in her sixth year as the Hawkeye assistant coach. Freeman was coached by Stringer while she attended Cheyney State College in the late seventies. She captained the 1979 team that was unbeaten in 25 games.

Freeman was head coach at Delaware State College the two years prior to coming to Iowa. Under her direction, the DSC program moved from the cellar of the Mid-Eastern Atlantic Conference to the league's upper division.

HAWK FANS ARE GREAT!

The University of Iowa men's and women's athletic programs are recognized among the most successful in the nation. These athletes are provided the opportunity to showcase their talents to another group that is recognized as the greatest of its kind nationally--the Hawkeye fans.

Iowans are crazy about their Hawkeyes. Iowa football games have been sold out for the past nine seasons and the waiting list for tickets numbers well into the thousands. It's equally difficult to find a ticket for men's basketball games, and this same fan loyalty encompasses the Iowa women's basketball team.

Last year, Iowa ranked third in the nation in average attendance and broke its own Big Ten record in the same category. In that season, Carver-Hawkeye Arena was the site for the first pre-game regular season sellout in women's basketball history as 15,365 tickets were sold 30 hours prior to the annual Iowa-Ohio State showdown.

Carver-Hawkeye Arena was also the site of the two highest- attended games in Big Ten history, as well as 13 of the top 20 attended contests.

HOME COURT ADVANTAGE

The phrase "Home Court Advantage" certainly applies to the Iowa Hawkeyes and Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Entering the 1988-89 season, Iowa has won an astounding 62 of 67 games played in the Arena since C. Vivian Stringer took over as the head coach. Heading into the year, Iowa boasts a 27-game win streak on its home floor, a streak that includes a 14-0 mark set in 1987-88. Even more impressive is Iowa's home-court performance against Big Ten opponents. The Hawkeyes have lost only two home Big Ten games since Stringer took over in 1983, the last of which came against Ohio State in 1985. Since 1983, only two opponents have eclipsed the 70-point mark in the Arena, Tennessee (74) and Missouri (71).

CARVER-HAWKEYE ARENA

Carver-Hawkeye Arena is the site for all Iowa women's basketball home games as well as the location for the Hawkeyes' outstanding weight training and sports medicine facilities.

Located on the western edge of campus, the $18-million structure is the largest addition to what has developed into one of the nation's finest athletics complexes. Within walking distance of the Arena are the Iowa Baseball Field, the Hawkeye Softball Complex, the UI Recreation Building, Kinnick Stadium, the Don Klotz Tennis Center, Finkbine Golf Course, the Iowa track and field, and the Indoor Practice Facility.

In addition to providing a competition site for basketball, volleyball, wrestling and other selected events, the Arena houses offices for the athletic department's coaches and administrators, locker rooms, weight training and medical care rooms, wrestling work out and locker room, several team, press, and meeting rooms, and the Iowa City location of the Hawk Shop.
